Name: Unit title: Families and relationships  Which two things would it be good for a bystander to do when they see bullying?  A Walk away.  B Tell an adult what has happened. C Stand up for the person being bullied. D Threaten the bully.  Which of these statements is false? A There are skills we need to be friends. B We all have different friendship skills. C You cannot develop friendship skills. D The friendship skills you need will change over time.  What might happen as a result of overcoming a friendship problem? A The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out. B The friends no longer speak to each other. C The friends never fall out again.
Unit title: Families and relationships  1 Which two things would it be good for a bystander to do when they see bullying?  A Walk away.  B Tell an adult what has happened. C Stand up for the person being bullied. D Threaten the bully.  3 Which of these statements is false? A There are skills we need to be friends. B We all have different friendship skills. C You cannot develop friendship skills. D The friendship skills you need will change over time.  4 What might happen as a result of overcoming a friendship problem?  A The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out.  B The friends no longer speak to each other.
bystander to do when they see bullying?  A Walk away.  B Tell an adult what has happened. C Stand up for the person being bullied. D Threaten the bully.  C Which of these statements is false?  A They can influence what children think.  We all have different friendship skills. C You cannot develop friendship skills. D The friendship skills you need will change over time.  What might happen as a result of overcoming a friendship problem?  A The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out.  B The friends no longer speak to each other.
bystander to do when they see bullying?  A Walk away.  B Tell an adult what has happened. C Stand up for the person being bullied. D Threaten the bully.  C Which of these statements is false?  A They can influence what children think.  We all have different friendship skills. C You cannot develop friendship skills. D The friendship skills you need will change over time.  What might happen as a result of overcoming a friendship problem?  A The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out.  B The friends no longer speak to each other.
B Tell an adult what has happened. C Stand up for the person being bullied. D Threaten the bully. D They can influence what children think. Which of these statements is false? A There are skills we need to be friends. B We all have different friendship skills. C You cannot develop friendship skills. D The friendship skills you need will change over time.  What might happen as a result of overcoming a friendship problem? A The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out. B The friends no longer speak to each other.
C Stand up for the person being bullied. D Threaten the bully. D They can influence what children think.  Which of these statements is false? A There are skills we need to be friends. B We all have different friendship skills. C You cannot develop friendship skills. D The friendship skills you need will change over time.  What might happen as a result of overcoming a friendship problem? A The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out. B The friends no longer speak to each other.
D Threaten the bully.  D They can influence what children think.  Which of these statements is false?  A There are skills we need to be friends.  B We all have different friendship skills.  C You cannot develop friendship skills.  D The friendship skills you need will change over time.  What might happen as a result of overcoming a friendship problem?  A The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out.  B The friends no longer speak to each other.
<ul> <li>Which of these statements is false?</li> <li>A There are skills we need to be friends.</li> <li>B We all have different friendship skills.</li> <li>C You cannot develop friendship skills.</li> <li>D The friendship skills you need will change over time.</li> <li>What might happen as a result of overcoming a friendship problem?</li> <li>A The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out.</li> <li>B The friends no longer speak to each other.</li> </ul>
A There are skills we need to be friends.  B We all have different friendship skills.  C You cannot develop friendship skills.  D The friendship skills you need will change over time.  4 What might happen as a result of overcoming a friendship problem?  A The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out.  B The friends no longer speak to each other.
<ul> <li>B We all have different friendship skills.</li> <li>C You cannot develop friendship skills.</li> <li>D The friendship skills you need will change over time.</li> <li>4 What might happen as a result of overcoming a friendship problem?</li> <li>A The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out.</li> <li>B The friends no longer speak to each other.</li> </ul>
You cannot develop friendship skills.  D The friendship skills you need will change over time.  4 What might happen as a result of overcoming a friendship problem?  A The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out.  B The friends no longer speak to each other.
<ul> <li>The friendship skills you need will change over time.</li> <li>What might happen as a result of overcoming a friendship problem?</li> <li>The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out.</li> <li>The friends no longer speak to each other.</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>4 What might happen as a result of overcoming a friendship problem?</li> <li>A The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out.</li> <li>B The friends no longer speak to each other.</li> </ul>
A The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out.  B The friends no longer speak to each other.
A The friends bring up the problem every time they fall out.  B The friends no longer speak to each other.
B The friends no longer speak to each other.
C The friends never fall out again.
D The friendship is stronger.
5 What is required?
5 What is marriage?
A legal commitment by two people who choose to be together.
B A commitment by two people who choose to be together but it is not legal.
C A legal commitment that must be between a man and a woman who choose to be together
A legal commitment by two people which can only take place in a church.
6 What can knowing our positive attributes do for us?
A Help us show off to other people.
B Show us how we are better than other people.
C Make other people who care about us proud.
D Help us know ourselves and feel proud of what we can do.

Name: Date: KS2 Quiz
Unit title: Families and relationships
7	Which of these is unlikely to make someone become a bully?
Α	They have been bullied themselves.
В	Something has happened which has made them very unhappy.
С	They enjoy being nasty.
D	They want people to take notice of them.
8	Which of these did not come from a change in the law?
Α	Women being able to vote.
В	Women going out to work when they have children.
С	Men having paid leave from work when they have a child.
D	Men and women being paid the same for the same job.
9	What does discrimination mean?
Α	Treating people differently and unfairly because they have a particular characteristic.
В	Being unkind to people because they have a particular characteristic.
С	Making assumptions about people because they have a particular characteristic.
D	Ignoring people because they have a particular characteristic.
10	What might help someone to stop bullying others?	